Merchants Call $100 Drawing

Tickets Available After Monday; Prize To Be Given Every Saturday

In appreciation to shoppers, 33 Canyon merchants will sponsor weekly drawings during December with a cash prize of $100 to be given at each drawing. The first drawing will be at 3 p. m. Saturday, Dec. 7, and drawings will be held each succeeding Saturday afternoon through Dec. 28.

The weekly drawings will be held at the band stand on the courthouse square under auspices of the Canyon Chamber of Commerce. Tickets for the drawing are available from merchants sponsoring the drawings.

The tickets will be given at the rate of one for each $1 purchase, with a limit of 300 tickets for any one purchase. Tickets will be placed in a container, and one ticket will be drawn on Saturday afternoon. The person who holds a ticket with a corresponding number to the ticket drawn will be declared the winner.

If the person with the number drawn is not present, another number will be drawn, and so on until the winner is present. The winner must be present to win, and $100 will be given each Saturday.

Tickets will be available beginning Dec. 2. The list of merchants sponsoring the weekly drawings is shown on page 7.

Crimemobile Visits Canyon Next Wednesday for All Day Showing

A free showing of the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation Crimemobile is scheduled in Canyon next Wednesday for an all day exhibition on the north side of the square in front of the Olympic Theater

The Crimemobile will be open to the public from 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. No admission is charged.

The exhibit will be accompanied by Bill Squier, Crimemobile supervisor. The exhibit is being sponsored by the police in Canyon and the Chamber of Commerce.

The exhibit, housed in a 48-foot truck trailer, serves as a rolling classroom to impress Texas citizens with the efficiency and ingenuity of modern police technique. It travels 100,000 miles each year, moving from one community to another.

The Crimemobile strips away the false glamour of the criminal. It gives the public a view of the coldly efficient machinery used in modern law enforcement. Graphic illustrations also help instill a new respect for the efforts of peace officers in their protection of our lives and property.

Included in the exhibits are a polygraph, commonly called lie detector, scientific glassware, x-ray machine, ultraviolet light, comparison microscope, short-wave radio, and writing and fingerprinting equipment, plaster casts, fire arms, speed-photo transceiver and drunk-o-meter.

A panel of photo murals ranging above the exhibits demonstrates all equipment in action, with actual police technicians and specialists using the devices against the criminal.

Bell Avenue Bids Opened Dec. 11

Bids for the paving of Bell Avenue will be opened on Dec. 11 in Austin, according to an announcement by the State Highway Department.

The bids will be for grading, placing the foundation course, building bridges and applying a three-course pavement. The new highway will be numbered FM 409, and is expected to replace Western Avenue as a truck bypass around Amarillo.

Give Museum Hours For Thanksgiving

People of the Panhandle area will be able to visit the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum here on Thanksgiving Day, according to C. Boone McClure, director.

The museum will be open from 2 until 5 p. m. Thursday, he said. It will be closed, however, for Christmas holidays on Dec. 24 and 25, and will be open only from 2 until 5 p. m. on New Year's Day.

Christmas Card Project Tops $200; Donations Expected as Season Nears

More than $200 has been deposited in the Christmas Card Project account at the First National Bank, Mrs. Dick Loudder, chairman of the project, announced this week.

The money given to the project will be used to establish and maintain a community center in Canyon. It is expected that more deposits will be made as the Christmas season gets nearer.

The project is designed to raise money in a painless manner by the substitution of donations in the place of the money usually spent on sending Christmas cards to neighbors and friends who live in Canyon. It is not designed to replace the sending of cards to friends and relatives who live outside of Canyon.

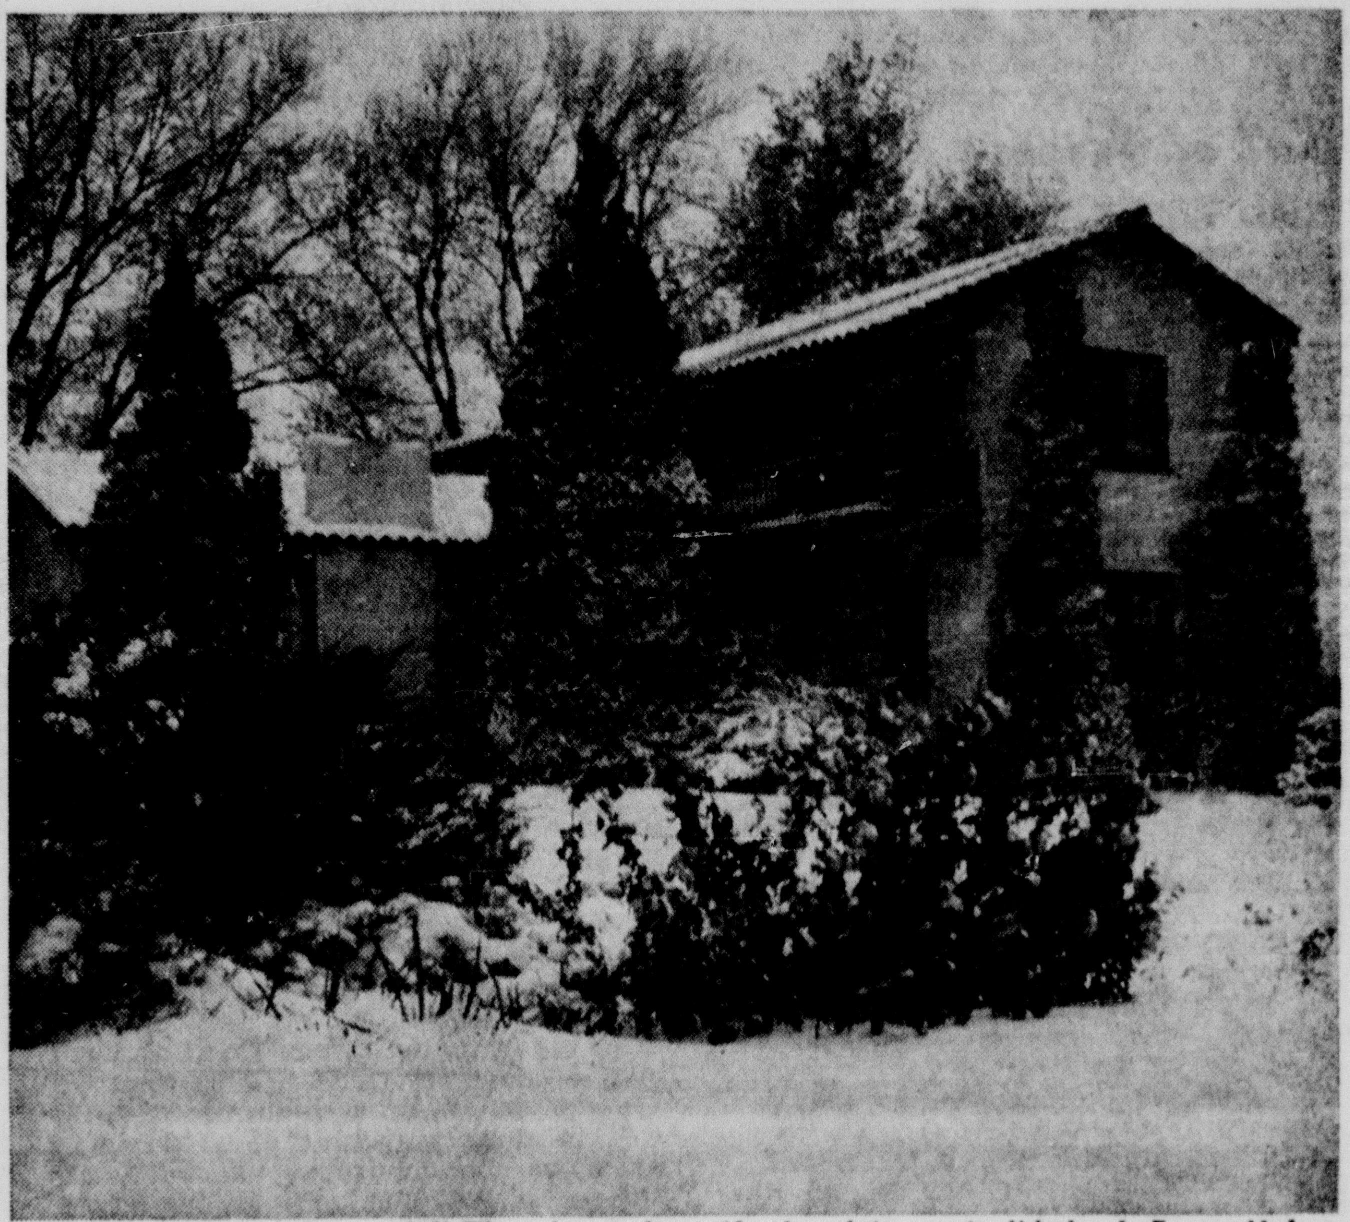
Those who wish to donate may do so in a simple manner. Decide on the amount of money usually spent on Christmas cards for Canyon, and deposit it in the bank in favor of the Christmas Card Project. The Canyon News will publish a list of those who have donated in a Christmas card setting in the edition of the paper for Dec. 25.

The donor should fill in the deposit slip in this manner:

Write "Christmas Card Project" on the top line, and "Care of Jean Loudder" on the second line.

The amount is written on the lower half, and the donor should sign his name so that it can be published in the Canyon News. Both the original and the carbon copy of the deposit slip are to be left at the bank.

Snow-Covered Scene



A four-inch cover of snow fell Thursday to beautify the plains as it did the J. Evetts Haley home here, take the last leaves from the trees and further delay the harvest of grain sorghums and cotton. Falling with little wind, the snow did not drift, but piled gently on the flat ground. Early Saturday morning the temperature dropped to nearly zero, but came up to melt the snow by Tuesday afternoon. Harvest got underway again this week.

Will Need 100-Foot Right of Way Through Umbarger on Highway 60

The proposed expressway for Highway 60 from Canyon to the Deaf Smith County line will go through Umbarger on the present 100-foot right of way the commissioners court announced Monday at their regular meeting.

Commissioner Clarence Beckman said the court had been notified of the decision last week by District Highway Engineer Chili Smith. Outside of Umbarger, the right of way will be 300 feet as originally scheduled, the court said.

At one time it was thought the new highway would take a 300-foot strip along the present route through Umbarger or would take a swing to the north around Umbarger on a 300-foot right of way. The new decision is a new policy of the highway department, Smith told the court.

Dr. Robert Young, new head of the Randal-Potter Health Department, and Jack Wyatt, head of the sanitation division of the department, visited the court to introduce Dr. Young.

In explaining the work of the health department, Dr. Young said it would be concerned with preventive medicine, and it is presently engaged in studying the health problems of the two counties.

He said the department might be compared with a doctor and a patient, with the two-county area being the patient of the department. "We will study the history of the area, check its symptoms and try to diagnose its ills," the doctor said. "When we have a diagnosis, we will prescribe a method of treatment."

Dr. Young said he would try to make periodic reports to the commissioners court, especially when a problem arises or when some situation needs action. "We won't bore you with a lot of statistics on a regular schedule, but we will try to let you know what is going on," he said.

Buffalo Boosters Sponsor Regional Game Between White Deer, Ralls

White Deer and Ralls will play a regional Class A football game at 2 p. m. Friday in Buffalo Stadium in a game hosted by the Buffalo Boosters.

Booster President A. W. Lair said considerable volunteer help from the members of the club will be needed at the game. He asked that those who are able to help contact him as soon as possible for assignments.

The club must provide ticket sellers and takers, hosts in the stands, personnel for the press box and as aides for the two teams, concession salesmen and other men for incidental work.

Admission to the game will be $1.50 for adults and 75 cents for students. After expenses of the game are deducted, the proceeds will be split between the two teams.

Jaycee National President Coming Here Monday

The national president of the Jaycees will visit the Canyon Jaycees Sunday and Monday in one of nine stops in the state of Texas. He will be met here by the state president and two state vice presidents.

Charles E. (Chuck) Shearer Jr. of Shelbyville, Ind., will arrive at Amarillo Air Terminal Sunday afternoon and will be brought to Canyon by a delegation of Canyon Jaycees. Earlier in the afternoon, W. E. (Pete) Snelson of Midland, the state president, will arrive at Tradewinds Airport. The state vice presidents here to meet Shearer will be Gerald Hale of Hereford and Don C. Baker of Arlington.

Included on the schedule of events for the president's visit is a dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wirt Sunday night and a breakfast Monday morning for the visitors and members of the Canyon Jaycees. Shearer will leave Canyon following the breakfast.

The national president picked Canyon for one of his nine stops in Texas several months ago, and his trip to the Panhandle does not include visits in any of the other towns.

Expected at the breakfast Monday are Jaycees for all the towns of the Panhandle.

Shearer, 34, is an attorney, and is responsible for the overall operation and coordination of the Jaycees in the United States. During his term of office, the national president lives in Tulsa, Okla., in a home owned by the national Jaycees. The national office is in Tulsa.

Shearer became a Jaycee in 1949 and has served the Indianapolis Jaycees as a member of several committees, as local director and vice president. On the state level he was a director, state vice president, state secretary, national director and state president.

On the national level, Shearer was first a member of the national policy committee and has served as a member of the organization and policy committees. He was chosen by his fellow state presidents as chairman of the state presidents' committee.

As state president, Shearer received the Clayton Frost Memorial Award in 1955 as one of the five outstanding state presidents. Since then he has received the local Distinguished Service Award in Shelbyville and was named one of the three outstanding young men of Indiana for 1956.

In addition to his Jaycee activities, Shearer has served as secretary of the Shelby County United Fund; vice president and charter board member of the Shelbyville Boys Club; member of the Cerebral Palsy Board of Shelby County; member of the Board of Aviation Commissioners; member of the Elks, Shelby County Bar Association, Advisory Board of Mental Health and Indiana State Bar Association.

Shearer is listed in the 1957 directories, "Who's Who in the Midwest" and "Who's Who in Indiana."

A New Parking Policy

We note how the Amarillo City Commission adopted a new policy for parking tickets to out-of-town visitors. Instead of the old policy of an unlimited number of free tickets, each out-of-town car will be allowed five in each year and after that number the person overparking will have to start paying the fines.

That seems a more than liberal way to treat people who go to Amarillo to shop. After all, it's to the advantage of the city and all its people for plenty of out-of-town folks to spend money in Amarillo. But there's one note of warning we feel we must add.

If you live in Randall County, you don't get five free parking tickets. You don't get one.

We read how the Amarillo officials feel that so many people from Canyon are up there all the time that Canyon should be treated as a part of Amarillo. You see, they're afraid somebody might take advantage of their hospitality, or at least that's the way their corporation judge put it.

It can't be argued that the corporation court cannot tell whether the owner of a certain car lives outside Amarillo. Each county puts out a list of automobile licenses issued each year, and the list includes a description of the car, the owner's name and address. Indeed, in order for the court to send out a notice through the mail, they must look on the Randall County list to get the correct address.

The Amarillo City Commission apparently feels much the same as does the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce about cooperation with Canyon, they use the same old Army definition: Do as we want you to, and everything will be fine.

So, when you drive to downtown Amarillo to shop, and most of us do fairly often, be sure to drop your nickel into the meter and run back an hour later to drop in another nickel. That's what the Amarillo people have to do, and you're no better than they are; although the Amarillo officials feel that the people from everywhere else are better.

As an incidental note, we'd like to invite anyone from Amarillo to come down to Canyon to shop anytime. We've already got a mall with trees and grass, and about the only way you can get a parking ticket here is to park your car sideways across the middle of Fourth Avenue—that's one thing we can't stand.

Bill of Rights

Often we speak of this freedom or that right, feeling it belongs to us, and almost as often we don't really know what we're talking about. We think it fitting that on occasion, every American should take a few minutes to read the Bill of Rights—or at least a descriptive caption. Often we think the Fifth Amendment is over-used and maybe it should be denied to some. But, do we know at the same time that it is the amendment that keeps the government from taking our property without paying for it?

Descriptive titles of the Bill of Rights are:

1. Religious Establishment Prohibited. Freedom of Speech, of the Press, and Right to Petition.
2. Right to Keep and Bear Arms.
3. Conditions for Quarters for Soldiers.
4. Right of Search and Seizure Regulated.
5. Provisions Concerning Prosecution, Trial and Punishment—Private Property Not To Be Taken for Public Use Without Compensation.
6. Right to Speedy Trial, Witnesses, Counsel.
7. Right of Trial by Jury.
8. Excessive Bail or Fines and Cruel Punishment Prohibited.
9. Enumeration of Rights in Constitution Does Not Deny Other Rights Retained by the People.
10. Rights of States.

Although those rights are spelled out pretty clearly, most of them have been changed one way or another, or someone would like to change them.

Take the first. A commission on government security would like Congress to pass a bill that would make it a felony to publish a government secret, even though the "secret" may be common knowledge. They suggest a $10,000 fine and up to five years imprisonment.

Or the second. In many states, a private citizen cannot own certain types of firearms without obtaining a permit, and in our states it's illegal to carry a pistol except in certain conditions.

Or the fourth. In some states, police may search your private affairs by listening in on your telephone conversations, and the things they hear may be used in court.

Or the fifth. Ask the New Mexico rancher who has had a running battle with the Army about his ranch if the fifth amendment is still completely in effect.

How about the sixth. Jammed court dockets all over the nation make a "speedy" trial a joke. You hear of cases being tried months and months after charges are filed.

And the seventh. The northern liberals tried awfully hard to pass an act in the last session of Congress that would allow persons to be jailed without a trial through the contempt of court route.

And the tenth. States Rights, hah!

Miscellaneous Information--

Did you hear about the woman who hasn't been able to find time to go see the Ten Commandments at the movie house, but has been telling friends that she has read the book?

We suppose it's all in a point of view, but maybe you can figure it out.

Saturday morning in Jacksboro, we asked a man if there had been much snow there. He said there had been a lot, "awful lot," he called it. He said it was "horrible."

Later that day, headed the other direction through Jacksboro, we asked another man about the snow. "It spit around quite a while, but never did amount to much," he said.

What Our Neighbors Say . . .

Scissor Snippings

Betty Williams in the County Wide News: (Littlefield): We thought we were having interference from outer space right here in the News office Monday when the water pump of our cooling system began running with the electricity turned off.

The cooling unit had not been used for more than a month and the water had been disconnected, the unit covered with a tarpaulin, and the electric switch had been thrown off for more than two weeks.

Suddenly Monday afternoon the water pump motor began running again.

To add to our confusion, our cold water faucet at the wash basin in the back began dispensing HOT water.

The water faucet also spouted out electric current along with water.

We thought there must be some connection between the fan up on the roof running without electricity and the electrified hot water coming out of the cold water faucet, but since there was no water connected with the fan it made it even more baffling.

Larry Fuller and Jimmie Don Morris of Southwestern Public Service investigated and advised us to get it fixed or have our insurance doubled.

They took out a fuse in the master switch Monday night until we could get an electrician the next morning.

It all seemed very simple in the end.

The electrician found that the fan had been wired incorrectly when it was installed several years ago. With the recent dampness the lead wire was shorting out and grounding against the water pipe.

Although wired incorrectly, the fan operated perfectly during the drouth years, by all the moisture this year has affected it as it has everything else around here.

Ernest Joiner in the Ralls Banner: According to a report soon to be released by the United States Office of Education, here in sharp contrast to our own sissified classroom curriculums, is what children in the Soviet Union elementary and secondary schools are required to study. Biology is compulsory in grade 4; foreign language in grade 5; physics, algebra and geometry in grade 6; astronomy and calculus in grade 10. In Russia, 15 years ago, each teacher averaged 27 students. Today there is a teacher for every 17 students. In the U.S. it is common for each teacher to have from 30 to 50 pupils TODAY. What's the answer? We have just been advised that a drive is under way in Ralls to build a new and bigger football stadium!

W. H. Graham in the Froina Star: Overshadowing even the big-time upsets last weekend was Friona's trouncing of Morton for a district championship. Needless to say, there was cause for jubilation as the whistle sounded ending the game Friday night.

The Chiefs are noted for their spunk, not size, and when they rushed to hoist Coach Colie Huffman to their shoulders, they faced an almost insurmountable task. Huffman is a champion in the specific gravity department.

Finally, with much heaving and ho-ing they got Colie aloft. The boys staggered a few feet with their load, but natural laws are hard to break, and the coach began to sink into the mass of red jerseys.

Ace Photog Boyd raced for the scene at top speed, but by the time he arrived, the only part of Colie visible was from his eyes up.

I GIVE YOU TEXAS

In Corpus Christi, the weather forecast — instead of flatly naming a high temperature — will give a range such as, "High today will be between 89 and 94." Of course, it being Texas and summer, (when I was there) you knew it was going to reach 94 — but doesn't "between 89 and 94" sound more cooling?

A bluff divides the downtown section of Corpus Christi. There are three ways for the pedestrian to get to the top of the bluff. One is by a walkway which curves around beside the street. Another is a picturesque flight of steps which has a white sculptural design in front of it. The third way is by means of a tunnel — yes, you reach the top by going through a tunnel. But there is a slope and then a flight of steps. I know of no other city with three-way method.

On my arrival in Corpus Christi, I heard a terrific voice which sounded as though it was coming over a loud-speaker turned as high as it would go. On entering the tunnel, I perceived the source: a crippled beggar who was preaching. The acoustical power of the tunnel is amazing.

La Retama library is in the center of the business district — on the spot where the city hall used to be.

The city busses go in for advertising — not just cards inside or signs on the outside, but the entire bus. One, for example, looks like a huge loaf of bread. Another looks like a package of butter.

I wonder if the citizens instead of speaking of such-and-such a bus route (such as North Beach) don't say, "You catch Jones Buttermilk and transfer to Smith's Baked Beans."

Jutting out into the bay are two long piers, each with a double line of sail boats and cabin cruisers rocking at anchor.

Palm trees, cape jasmines (or is it jessamines?), a church with towers and a tiled dome, the pink Princess Louise Hotel on the beach, the immense Robert Driscoll Hotel on top of the bluff—the bay, deep blue in the late afternoon and rippled by a wind, the water stretching to the rim of the world — these are a few of the features that make Corpus Christi highly attractive.

Mrs. W. C. Kunze returned last week from an extended visit in New Orleans, La., Dallas, Houston, Bryan and Bay City.

LIPSTICK LOGIC

Non-smokers sometimes forget that smoking is fun.

What they see, and smell, instead is a living room full of messy ashtrays, the strong leftover aroma of last night's smoking guests. Add to that a kind of tut-tut speculation on what "those people" must spend on tobacco (Just look! HE smoked seven and SHE smoked nine! Doesn't count the ones they smoked while we were out to supper, either!)

We could never go so far in our anti-smoking attitudes as one friend whose husband has built her a beautiful new home with a kind of mother-in-law room off the garage for his "42" games with cronies. This keeps the cigar odors out of the house. If he MUST smoke at other times, he can go in his combination dressing-room clothes-closet, where she has placed an easy chair. There, though it has no outside openings at all, is a ceiling air-conditioning vent which pulls the smells out before they're stale.

We grew up in an atmosphere of pipe-smoking, and were in college before we realized every home didn't have to smell like that half the time. Later on, when it became fashionable, we learned to smoke cigarettes and for awhile knew the pleasure of a smoke with coffee after dinner, or as a pick-up after a long hard job.

So far as we're concerned, our friends may smoke or abstain; it's strictly their own affair. But is it rude to wish they'd please hold a burning cigarette so the nicotine smell doesn't waft right into our nostrils? That they'd stamp out the butt end, instead of leaving it smoldering in a loaded ashtray? That they'd find out that nicotine stain on teeth and fingers can be prevented by frequent use of toothpaste and soap?

FATHER

A small girl whose father is a judge would often say she was Judge Brown's daughter when someone asked her name. Her mother, thinking this might sound snobbish, told her not to make that sort of reply, but simply to say that she was Dorothy Brown.

Later someone asked her if she was Judge Brown's daughter. She replied, "Well, I thought I was, but Mother says not."

TRAPPED

"Hours, I should say?"

Russells Celebrate Golden Anniversary With Open House, Reunion With Friends

Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Russell marked their Golden Wedding anniversary Nov. 17 with an open house from 2 to 5 p. m.

Over 100 guests registered during the open house in the Russell home at 304 17th St., in honor of the special occasion.

Mrs. Russell's youngest brother, W. D. Boatman of Ferndale, Wash., was among the guests at the celebration. He was present at the wedding in Sulphur Bluff in 1907.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell recalled that their wedding day was cold and rainy, a day like their Golden Anniversary.

The couple were married in Sulphur Bluff Nov. 17, 1907. Mrs. Russell had formerly lived in Mr. Russell's home county, Cherokee, until about a year before the marriage, when she moved with her family to Sulphur Bluff.

After the wedding, the couple returned to Cherokee County until 1920, when they moved to Plainview, where they lived for three years. The couple then moved to Slaton.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell and their two daughters, Oleta and Trannie Mae, came to Canyon in 1929. Mr. and Mrs. Russell have lived in the 300 block on 17th Street for 22 years.

The daughters are now Mrs. T. B. McCandless of Amarillo and Mrs. J. J. Sloane of West Columbia.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell have four grandchildren, all sons.

The daughters and the grandchildren were present at the open house.

Other relatives were among the 122 registering during the celebration. Mrs. Ethel Boatman, the wife of Mrs. Russell's twin brother, came to the anniversary party from Seaside, Ore. Mrs. Lulu Bowling, sister to Mrs. Russell, came from Dallas.

Four nephews of Mrs. Russell were present. They are Elbert Boatman of Fort Stockton, Hardy Boatman of Houston, Clyde Boatman of Houston, and Harmon Jacobs of Dallas.

J. A. Russell of Slaton, Mr. Russell's nephew, registered. Mr. Russell's nieces, Mrs. L. D. Peebles and Mrs. Harvey Tunnel, also came up from Slaton.

Old friends who came to the celebration were D. F. McDonald of Plainview and Mr. and Mrs. Clay Ridgeway of Hereford.

Mrs. Bowling poured the coffee, and Mrs. Ethel Boatman served the cake. Mints and nuts were also served.

The table was laid with white satin covered with net. Special white candles trimmed in gold were set upon the table.

Golden mums, sent by friends, were used throughout the house.

Main floral decoration was a golden ring with golden bells and golden ring with golden bells and white chrysanthemums intertwined.

Seaman Arrives In Foreign Port

Jimmy A. Adams, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Adams, aboard the destroyer USS Hollister, arrived in Brisbane, Australia, Nov. 14 with Destroyer Division 112 for a seven-day visit.

The division left San Diego, Calif., Oct. 25, making Brisbane its first port of call before reporting to the U. S. Seventh Fleet's Task Force 77 in the Western Pacific.

While with the Seventh Fleet the division will participate in hunter-killer operations, as aircraft lifeguard for aircraft carriers and take part in the Taiwan Patrol.

Besides Australia, Kaohsiung, Formosa; Hong Kong; Yokosuka and Sasebo, Japan, are on the list for recreational visits.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hollabaugh and daughter, Lanoy Kay, of Colorado Springs, Colo., are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. H. Hollabaugh, and other relatives in Canyon and Plainview.

Thanksgiving — a day of special gratitude for Americans.

LIGHT OIL HEAVY OIL

Why use two when one will do?

You'll do better to protect your motor with this one all-weather oil than to change from heavy oil to light oil according to the season.

Users of Trop-Artic* All-Weather Motor Oil never have to worry about using different grades of oil at different seasons of the year. Trop-Artic is a light oil and heavy oil in one (grades 10W through 30). Furthermore, it lubricates and protects your motor far better than any of the old-fashioned "single grade" oils.

The reason is that Trop-Artic never gets too thick or too thin. In a cold engine it flows quickly for easy starting. In a hot engine it retains the "body" necessary to prevent wear. It reduces friction to save you gasoline. It keeps your engine clean. Compared to old-fashioned oils it can even double engine life. Plans for Cemetery Administration, Financing Told by Jerry LaGrone

Some of the questions raised about Dreamland Cemetery and permanent care have been answered by Jerry LaGrone of the Warren-LaGrone Funeral Home.

Most of the questions answered by LaGrone concerned the administration and the financing of the proposed permanent care program for Dreamland.

In a question-and-answer sheet prepared for members of the First Baptist Church, LaGrone said that the Dreamland Cemetery Association is governing body for the cemetery since Randall County has deeded the cemetery to the association.

The board of directors of the association is T. A. Black, Mrs. Alfred Bellah, Mrs. Clyde Warwick and Dr. J. A Hill Officers of the association are Mrs. L. L. Byars, president; Dr. Ford Fronabarger, vice president; R. B. Allen, secretary; Levi Cole, treasurer; and A. W. Lair, counselor. Warren-LaGrone is under contract to the association as manager.

The board of directors is elected from the membership of the association. To be a member, one must have paid $50 or permanent care on one gravespace.

The perpetual care program will be financed by families paying $50 per gravespace to a fund set aside by the association. Payments may be made in a lump sum or installments. The fund will be split into 60 per cent for the operating fund and 40 per cent for a trust fund, which will be invested. The interest will be used to keep the cemetery.

The sum of $8,425 has been collected toward the minimum goal of $12,500 needed before the program can be set in operation. Most of the people contacted have been enthusiastic about the project, LaGrone said.

Major reason for putting the perpetual care program into operation is the fact that Randall County, which has been operating the cemetery, has deeded the land to the cemetery association. Officials decided that the county did not have the time or facilities to care for the cemetery. There are five privately owned cemeteries in the county.

Since the cemetery association has assumed the care of the cemetery, individual property owners have been wondering about the effect of the transaction on privately owned lots. The change has no effect on individual property owners, LaGrone said. The association has assumed the care of the cemetery and the ownership of unsold lots.

No owner can be forced to place his lot or lots in the voluntary perpetual care program. Nor can the association force any owner to change the lot or to let changes be made.

The sprinkler irrigation system, which the county has contracted to install, has not been started.

Eagles Honored At Chili Feed

The Canyon High School football teams were honored Monday night by the Buffalo Boosters at a chili supper in the WT cafeteria.

During the program following the supper, Coach Bill Davis announced the selections to the All-District team, and each of the players present introduced himself and his father.

The film of the game between Canyon and Perryton was also shown.

Canyonite Observes Her 75th Birthday

Mrs. W. W. Clounch, 1603 Third Ave., celebrated her 75th birthday Sunday in her home.

Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ernie Miller and son from Plainview; Mrs. Marvin Tucker, Mrs. Jessie Rusk, Mrs. Audrey Erwin, and Mrs. Norma Davison and children, all of Canyon; Mrs. Spurgeon Clounch and children and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Clounch and children, all of Amarillo; Mr. and Mrs. Cleve Hudson and children of Perryton; and Mrs. Margaret Snowder of Las Cruces, N. We had snow last week and the ground is still quite wet.

There were no church services Sunday as Brother Bill Hall received word that Brother Perdue was injured in a pickup-truck wreck near Lefors and was not expected to live. The two were close friends. The Hall family went up to be with him over Sunday. He was still in critical condition at the last word.

Those playing "88" in the J. W. Wesley home Saturday evening were Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wesley and Lavena Amerson.

Mrs. Ella Hext and a friend visited Saturday evening in the Woodrow Wesley home.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Evans attended Sunday School and later visited in the G. E. Wesley home.

Holiday Is Theme Of Club Season

Thanksgiving was the theme of the Woman's Book Club meeting at the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum Nov. 20.

Mrs. Alfred Bellah, who presented a discussion on "Thanksgiving, an American Heritage," said that Thanksgiving has served its highest purpose if it turned thoughts toward God.

Mrs. Fred Standley, in her program on "Thanksgiving Festivals in Other Lands," said that in most other countries Thanksgiving is called Harvest Festival and thanks is given more to the landlord than to the Lord.

In the business meeting, Mrs. Lee Johnson, president, reminded members that a box is being prepared for the mentally ill and that donations should be delivered to the home of Mrs. Leonard Winters, who is in charge of packing.

The site of the Christmas party has been changed to the home of Mrs. James P. Cornette from the home of Mrs. C. R. Burrow because of illness. Exchange gifts of 25 cents will be brought to the party as well as 75 cent gifts for the county library.

Mrs. Fred Standley honored her new grandson Rob by sending a bouquet.

Mrs. Bob Wear was received as a new member.

Nineteen regular members attended.

Rotarians Hear Rev. Findley

Thanksgiving is "a time to look back and to look in," the Rev. Gerald Findley, minister of the First Christian Church, told members of the Canyon Rotary Club at their regular meeting Tuesday.

In man there is an inherent need to give thanks for blessings received, he said, as he traced briefly the practice of giving thanks. He outlined the origin of the American custom of Thanksgiving observance and the background of the present Thanksgiving Day.

"We seem to be inclined to take our blessings for granted, and it is easy to forget and to live carelessly and ungratefully," he said. "One of man's greatest sins is ingratitude."

Expression of gratitude "opens the door to a better relationship to God," makes for better human relationships, brightens one's life, and can "even transform one's business," the Rev. Findley said.

Visiting Rotarians were Jack Kubricht of Cherokee, Okla., Dudley Bayne of Hereford, G. C. Matthews of South and West Amarillo, and F. E. Hobgood, Jerry Ratcliff and Carroll Fenster.

No regular meeting of the club will be held Tuesday, but a Ladies Night is scheduled Dec. 5 at 7:30 p. m. Dr. Bill Gordon of Lubbock will be guest speaker.

OUTDOORS
IN TEXAS

By BILL KENNEDY

With the ever-growing popularity of water sports in Texas, lake-shore property is selling fast. Already many Texas lakes have been completely "sold out" . . . that is, insofar as desirable lake frontage is concerned.

Most folks, seeking to spend their leisure time near water, want to see the water from their cabins. Sometimes that is not easy to arrange. Most land development is secondary frontage, near the water, but perhaps some distance away from the shoreline.

Many Texans have solved this problem by building their cabins right on the water. That's right. On floating rafts, supported either by steel drums or pontoons. And these cabins are complete in every detail.

How To Build One

Just how are these floating homes built?

Most are constructed with steel "runners" under the deck. Average size of the deck is 26 feet long by 20 feet wide. Runners are spaced so that drums may be placed end to end the length of the boat.

After the steel underpinning is welded into a single unit, the 2"x6" decking is secured by large screws through the steel frame.

Once the deck is completed, the rest of the houseboat is constructed in the same manner as a cabin would be built on land. Here the houseboater can give free rein to his own ideas about comfort. Some simply use 2"x4" studs and weatherproof wallboard, with a shed-type roof of corrugated aluminum. Others build the cabin as sturdily as any seen on shore.

Interiors remind you of house trailers, with every inch of space utilized. Nearly all have a refrigerator, cook stove, either electric or bottled gas, sink with running water, and rest room.

I think the primary reason that houseboating appeals to so many lovers of water is the sliding-cost scale. From a raft with canvas awning and a few chairs, to luxurious factory-built combination houseboat-house trailer, a houseboat can cost just about as much as you want to spend.

Conventional houseboats, those in the 26-foot class, with cabin, range in price from under $1,000 to over $5,000. I have seen houseboats entirely made by a "do-it-yourselfer" and these boats are comfortable and sturdy.

Empty oil drums are used to buoy most houseboats. However, steel pontoons are becoming more popular because they give steadier support and increase running speed. Drums cost from $2 to $3 each, and the average houseboat will need at least 24 to float. Your local welding shop can turn out pontoons from sheet steel.

Community Living

These houseboats range from open deck rafts to at least one that features two rooms and bath. This houseboat was built by a veteran houseboater from Round Rock, Ed Walsh.

Ed bought an Austin Transit Company bus body as the start of this comfortable home. A Taylor man, Bob Sims, used a school bus body to make the cabin of his houseboat. Both these boats are sleek looking craft with such features as combination sofa-beds, running water, electric ranges, refrigerators, ample storage space, and sundecks built above the cabin roof.

Houseboaters are a gregarious lot, preferring community-type living to isolated moorings "away from it all." They gather, usually in groups of four to six, at some spot on the lake that is convenient to their land-based homes. The spot they pick usually is a fishing camp. Here electricity is available and usually there is someone to keep an eye on the boats. The camp owner, glad to have the additional traffic that houseboaters bring, charges from $5 to $10 per month for the privilege of dock space and electricity.

Lakes and rivers in Texas were on flood rampages last spring. Lake Travis, used as a flood control lake, rose to unexpected heights. Houseboaters were glad to have someone on hand to advise when their boats needed moving up or down. Four steel cables tied onto trees or posts on shore, served as mooring for the floating cabin. As the lake rose and fell the cables were shortened or lengthened to hold the boat close to shore.

This entailed some work. But after Travis returned to normal, houseboats had ridden out the trouble without mishap. Not so with many cabins and homes that were flooded.

Two other veteran houseboaters, Ott Miller and Dr. Aubrey House, both of Taylor, enjoy owning and maintaining their crafts. Miller has added six feet of deck space to his boat and finished the inside of the cabin with plywood.

Both men bought houseboats built on Lake Travis and then added the refinements that make living easier. Now on pontoons, these boats originally used drums. The drums have been pressed into service for making gangplanks and diving rafts.

Power, Not Speed

What about powering the big boats?

Not built to break speed records, a houseboat needs only an outboard, in the 10 to 25 hp class, to shove it along in grand cruising style. After all, the houseboat was built for easy-style living.

For those who want speed on the water, a small runabout can always be added to the fleet.

Summer or winter, the houseboat can serve as a recreation spot for you and your family. Fish in the comfort of a heated cabin (some have fishing holes cut in the floor); take a slow cruise to visit another houseboat community on the lake; or just lazy the day away in the company of good friends.

What's your pleasure? If you want to be near water, check the advantages of owning a houseboat. I think you'll enjoy being master of your own luxury liner.

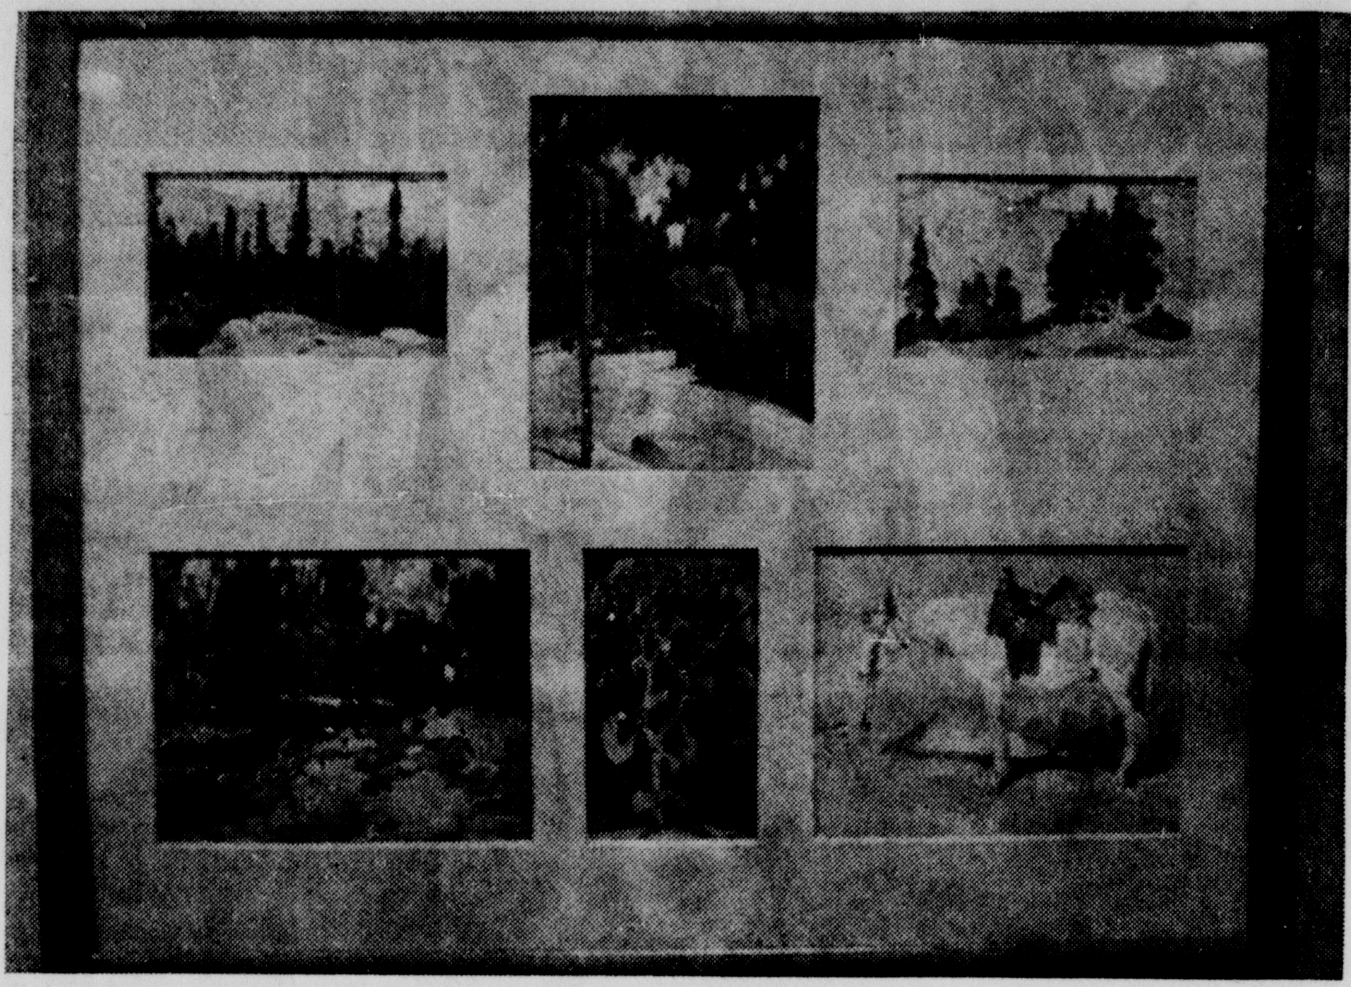
Museum Donation



Six paintings by William Herbert Dunton have been donated to the Panhandle-Plains Historical Museum by Mrs. H. S. Griffin of Wichita Falls. Previously, the museum had been given five Dunton paintings from the collection of the late Judge James Hamlin and one from Susan J. Allen. Dunton, who died in 1936, worked and lived in Taos and did many book and magazine illustrations in addition to painting. Mrs. Griffin is a member of the board of directors of the historical society.

Kuehler Leaving Thursday Night

Alby Ann Kuehler, Randall County 4-H girl, will leave Nov. 28 for the national 4-H Congress in Chicago.

Miss Kuehler is a winner of the Santa Fe Railroad award for leadership and achievement in 4-H work. The award carries an expense paid trip to Chicago to the national 4-H Congress held Dec. 1-6 and attended each year by 1200 outstanding 4-H boys and girls.

Leaving Amarillo at 11:45 p. m. Thanksgiving Day on a Fort Worth and Denver train, Miss Kuehler will join other delegates in Fort Worth. After a send-off luncheon the 30 Texas delegates will leave Fort Worth at 2 p. m. Friday and arrive in Chicago Saturday.

Headquarters for the 36th annual congress will be the Conrad-Hilton Hotel.

Kinan Burke, a sophomore at West Texas State College, is a Santa Fe delegate from Swisher County. Miss Kuehler is a junior at WT.

Randall County is one of two counties sending a Santa Fe delegate two years in succession. Charles Conatser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles V. Conatser, was a delegate from this county last year. Hale County is also sending two in a row.

Santa Fe awards were made to 13 people in Texas.

Highlights and Sidelights FROM Your State CAPITOL

By VERN SANFORD
Texas Press Association

Texas' lawmakers are striving hard to forge a new tool for dealing with police powers, insofar as school segregation-integration problems are concerned.

Proposed is a "last-resort" law to be used, presumably, in situations where threat of federally-enforced integration is met by strong local opposition. It would allow the school board to shut down the school until "the earliest possible time when peace and order can be maintained without the use or occupation by military forces."

Gov. Price Daniel's call also asked that the law provide (1) that state aid, accreditation, salaries, etc., not be affected by the closing, (2) that school boards may transfer local pupils and (3) that the attorney general be authorized to assist local school districts in contesting integration suits in federal court.

Though Legislative operating funds ran out over the weekend, both House and Senate decided against a "crash" program to enact the bill overnight. Strong opposition was not foreseen, however.

Fiscal Hangover

Lawmakers who return for the next regular session in January, 1959, face a "morning after" atmosphere with a $12,000,000 headache.

Last summer State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert predicted the state would end this two-year period with a $6,000,000 deficit. His latest estimate doubles that figure.

Calvert revised his figures after voters this month approved a constitutional amendment upping state pension payments.

Legislators already are skating on the edge of financial embarrassment in their day-to-day operation. Fund for their salaries, expenses, etc., was down to about $45,000 when the first session ended. With costs running about $11,000 a day, they were due to start drawing this week on the governor's deficiency fund, earmarked for "calamities"

But the real calamity, as many legislators see it, comes year after next when they will have to find a way to glue the "busted" budget together again Most agree, gloomily, that it means new taxes.

No "Thrill," But

Legislators' comments on the laws passed during the first special session ranged from "montrosity" to a shoulder-shrugging "better than nothing."

But they did pass — all five that the governor asked.

Spokesman for the governor admitted he wasn't exactly "thrilled" with the watered-down water bill, but that he would accept it. In a public statement Governor Daniel commended the lawmakers for their accomplishments.

Briefly, the new laws do this:

1. Set up a water planning division to do research on Texas water resources and report to each regular session. No authority to draw up a statewide plan was conferred, and the appropriation was cut from a recommended $1,200,000 to $900,000. Water Board was given authority to negotiate for state water storage in federal reservoirs —with legislative approval.
2. Require registration of those who seek to influence legislation "by direct communication" and reporting of expenditures over $50.
3. Require registration of those who, for pay, represent others before state agencies.
4. Set up a commission to study Texas law enforcement and report to the next regular session.
5. Appropriate money for a building for the State Insurance Department.

What Now?

Senate rejection of the appointment of William A. Harrison as insurance commissioner put that department in a quandary.

Without an administrative head, the department cannot conduct even routine business; nor can it pay its employees. Members of the Insurance Board asked Atty. Gen. Will Wilson for guidance.

Under the Constitution the Senate has the authority to pass on all appointments made by the governor to constitutional offices. It does not, however, pass on the appointments of various state boards within their departments.

When the Insurance Department was re-organized last spring, the new law authorized the governor to appoint Insurance Board members and the board to appoint a commissioner. But it was specifically written into the law that the Senate would have confirmation power on the board's appointment of a commissioner.

Senate approved the governor's appointments to the board, but turned thumbs down on Harrison. A former assistant state auditor, Harrison had been serving in the $20,000-a-year post since early last summer.

Board members asked Wilson's opinion on (1) Does the Senate have the constitutional authority to pass on a board appointment and (2) if so, what'll we do until we can find a new commissioner?

"No Urgency"

Insurance Department is being beset by the Senate from another quarter as the investigation into a delayed report continues.

Senate committee questioned two department officials on why three months elapsed between receipt of an unfavorable report on Preferred Life of Dallas and department action on the matter.

Paul D. Connor, assistant commissioner, said he saw "no urgency" in the report since it did not involve insolvency, E. B. Kelley, chief examiner, said he didn't think there was "anything significant" about it.

Earlier, the man who made the examination said he had found evidence of illegal stock manipulation involving some $994,000.

Cotton Rained Out

Untimely rains probably have cost Texas cotton farmers some $100,000,000, says Agriculture Commissioner John White.

Rain kept harvesters out of the fields, said White, and greatly cut the quality of the cotton still on the stalks. "It's a real economic blow to many farmers who had prospects of the first good cotton crop in several years," White observed.

Short Snorts

Sen. William T. Moore of Bryan is president pro tempore of the Senate for the second called session. He succeeds Sen. Searcy Bracewell of Houston.

One of the things for which Texans can be thankful this year is that there will be only one Thanksgiving. Governor Daniel proclaimed the Texas holiday for Nov. 28, same as the federal holiday.

Governor Daniel has asked President Eisenhower for emergency federal aid for Jefferson, Bell, Orange and Fayette counties, recently hit by floods and tornadoes.

A senate-passed bill clears the way for getting land for a Texas Employment Commission building just north of the Capitol. Bill would increase the site-buying appropriation from $350,000 to $1,100,000. Probable location now is occupied by a Lutheran Church.

SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

OUR SOIL ★ OUR STRENGTH

We don't need to have another Dust Bowl.

Drought and high winds don't always cause dust storms or severe wind erosion. Soil that is protected with ground cover, living or dead, will not blow.

Many farmers and ranchers are trying to get ready for the next drouth because they know that it is coming. Others are just hoping it will not happen again.

The following farmers and ranchers all cooperating with the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District, have some acreage of cover cropping on their land; much of this cover is dead sorghum stubble in which grass will be seeded next spring. They are W. O. Turpin, C. V. Conatser, T. T. Triplett, Frank Begert J. W. Spencer Delmer Durrett and M. H. Rockwell.

The soil can be tied down. Where growing or dead plants protect the soil and hold it together, there is little wind erosion.

We get enough rain, even during most drouth years, to grow some sort of crop if all the water is saved and used by the crop. There is really little or no excuse for not having some plants or plant residues on the soil at all times.

No, we don't need to have another Dust Bowl; but we may have another unless the farmers and ranchers protect their fields and pastures with a cover of either living or dead plants.

Forrest Gruner, E. C. Berry, J. T. Goettsch, L. G. Hinders, W. T. Smoot, R. W. Foster, H. M. Kinsey, I. H. Lipe and Delmer Durrett are all cooperators with the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District who are practicing stubble mulch farming.

Stubble mulching is the type of cultivation that keeps the crop residues on the surface of the soil. This type of farming includes all kinds of equipment that does not "turn under" the crop stubble.

A good cover of stubble not only prevents blowing; it aids in water penetration by keeping the soil from crusting.

Technicians of the Soil Conservation Service along with the supervisors of the Randall-Potter Soil Conservation District heartily recommend the practices of cover cropping and stubble mulching, for soil improvement and wind erosion control.

LAST QUESTION

"Is this the speedometer?" asked the pretty girl, tapping the glass with her finger.

"Yes, dear," he replied.

"And that's the clutch?"

"That's the clutch, darling," he said, jamming on his brakes to avoid a fast approaching truck.

"But what on earth is this?" she inquired, at the same time giving the accelerator a vigorous push with her foot.

"This, dear," he said in a soft, celestial voice, "is Heaven." And picking up a harp he flew away.

ELIXIR OF DEATH

Ozark Zeke entered the village drugstore and said, "I've heard a lot about them wonder drugs. Can you give me something that will keep me from growing any older?"

"Sure thing," replied the druggist. "Do you prefer arsenic or rat poison?"

SO Asks Aid in Finding Billfold

The sheriff's office asked aid this week in recovering a billfold lost Thursday, probably in downtown Canyon.

The billfold, belonging to Mrs. Joe Martinez, was lost between Cooper's Market and the Martinez home near Hereford highway and 15th Street. The billfold contained between $80 and $90, the sheriff said.

Mrs. Martinez thought she might have dropped the billfold in the vicinity of the Olympic Theater when she bent over to pick up some groceries she had dropped.

Anyone who has knowledge of the billfold is asked to contact Mrs. Martinez or the sheriff's office.

Calliham Attends Two Illinois Meets

Dr. M. R. Calliham, head of the West Texas State College agriculture department, will attend two animal husbandry meetings this weekend in Chicago.

He will represent WT at a two-day meeting, which opens Friday, of the American Society of Animal Production. Dr. Calliham will also attend a committee meeting on beef cattle performance Sunday, called by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Dr. Calliham will participate in a symposium on "The Animal Husbandry Graduate in Modern Agriculture," which opens the society's general session Friday. The 49th meeting of the group, made up of livestock workers from throughout the nation, will deal with latest developments in livestock production.

NEWS LETTER

FROM CONGRESSMAN WALTER ROGERS OF THE 18TH CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT

Flying Saucers

The recent news stories about the sighting of flying saucers in the Panhandle has given us quite a bit of publicity all over the country. Whether it is good or bad is a debatable question. In fact, I have had several visits from people who are interested in flying saucers.

Incidentally there are a number of organizations devoted to the subject of flying saucers. These are private, not government, programs. It is interesting to talk to these people who make a business of studying the different reports about these objects.

I expect several of them have been out in the Panhandle digging into the reported sightings near Friona.

One of these fellows was in the office the other day and told me about the man in Nebraska who reported he had seen one of these ships and had communicated with its occupants. I asked where this man was at the present time, and I was told he had been confined in a mental institution.

I asked my informant if he was placed there because of his report about the flying saucer. My informant told me the Nebraskan had been placed in the institution not because he reported seeing a flying saucer and communicating with the occupants thereof, but because he had told this story the same identical way a great number of times. This came as quite a surprise to me, because I had always thought people got into trouble for not telling the story the same way each time.

According to my informant, this is old-fashioned. According to the new rules, if you tell the story the same way every time, you are possessed of a fixation, according to psychiatrists and, therefore, subject to being confined in the mental institution.

This creates quite a problem, because you will have to be fully aware at all times of the rule which is being applied in the particular jurisdiction in which you find yourself. The point is that, if you see a flying saucer, don't report it until you find out what rule is being applied in that locality.

If you stay with your original story you might end up in a mental institution and, on the other hand, if you change any of the facts after you have repeated the story several times, you may find yourself in the same place. It might be best to say nothing.

Soil Bank Grazing

I have had many requests wanting the Department of Agriculture to permit grazing of wheat acreage before Jan. 1, 1958, that is subject to the 1957 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Agreement I have had a thorough discussion of this problem with the Department of Agriculture several times, and they advise me they will not, under any circumstances, authorize the grazing of this wheat land that has been placed in the Soil Bank program unless applications to graze the same have been approved and a penalty of $6 per acre paid on the acreage to be grazed

This is the present regulation —that is, if a participant in the Soil Bank wants to graze land that has been placed in the 1957 Soil Bank Acreage Reserve Agreement, he may file application to do so These applications may be obtained at the ASC County Office The Department advises me that it will require the full payment of $6 per acre penalty before any grazing is authorized

Attacks On United States

The mail brought an inquiry just the other day from Mrs. Dolly Lynch, a school teacher at Mobeetie, as to the number of attacks on the U. S. mainland during the last war. We have this information from the Library of Congress, and I thought it might be interesting for all of you, as well as Mrs. Lynch, in view of the recent talk about missiles. The report of the Library of Congress is as follows:

"During the last war there is evidence that the mainland of the United States was shelled by enemy submarines only twice. The first occasion was in California (reported on Feb. 23, 1942), and the second in Oregon (Fort Stevens, reported in June, 1942).

There were certain other reports about attacks by balloons and other flying objects, a summary of which (as reported in the New York Times) is given below:

On June 1, 1943, U. S. Forestry Service aides reported three isolated recent attacks by Japanese on U. S. West Coast.

On June 10, 1943, Lt. Col. J. W. Fraser reported that incendiary bombs had been dropped on Oregon forests in an attempt to start fires in 1942.

On Jan. 1, 1945, a giant balloon, believed to be of Japanese origin, was found in Portland, Ore.

On Jan. 14, 1945, Attorney General Biddle reported on the evidence of Japanese submarines and planes 'having operated off U. S. West Coast after Pearl Harbor.'

On June 7, 1945, 6th Service Command disclosed that balloons were dropped in Michigan without disclosing date or specific place.

On Aug. 15, 1945, it was reported that 'nearly 230 bomb-laden (Japanese) balloons or remnants (were) recovered by July 30,' from Alaska to Mexico, and as far east as Michigan.

The U. S. Navy reported on Aug. 21, 1945, that 13 attempts were made by Japanese submarines to enter Los Angeles harbor. The report also stated that only one U-boat passed Ambrose Lightship, New York harbor during the war."

Wayside News

Dr. Luther Kirk of Plainview, district superintendent of the Methodist church, delivered the morning message Sunday at Wayside. There were no services that night.

The Woman's Society of Christian Service circles of Vigo Park and Wayside have jointly adopted little eight-year-old Jonithan Khure of Chaskalda, Amravati district, India, and they will support and educate him. It will cost $16 per year. He is in an orphan home. They have sent him a Christmas box. Miss Zoe Ann Alford, a missionary to India who spoke at Wayside, once had charge of this little boy and his mother but owing to the financial conditions he had to be sent to an orphans' home. Miss Alford is a long-time friend of Mr. and Mrs. Leroy Roberts.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Bean are the parents of a girl born Nov. 21 at 10 a. m. in the Tulia hospital. They have named the little miss Linda Kay. She weighed 5 pounds and 11½ ounces.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Mayes, Sammie and Vicki took Mrs. Mayes' mother, Mrs. Spencer, home to Quitaque Thursday. She had spent several days in the Mayes home.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Hamblen left last Sunday for Dallas to attend the Farm Bureau meeting on Monday. They returned home on Tuesday.

Mrs. Paul Wetzel and David spent last weekend in Sherman with her mother.

The children of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Payne of Amarillo, Shelia, Tim and John, are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. E. J. Mahler.

Freedom of the Press, Here and Now

Everywhere that a tyrant's heel has ground most brutally, there has sprung up an "underground" movement. And its heart always is a printing press. For the urge that dwells deep in a freedom-loving people to know the truth is hard to kill. In fact it cannot be killed – not even by the best-organized despotism in history.

The many stories of underground presses that have come down through the ages of trial and error by many dictators is an inspiration to the men and women of America's press.

We know that the truth can actually be printed and circulated under the very heel of a tyrant's boot. But a far better way of keeping people informed is through their own free press which operates not in some dark cellar, but on main street, right next door to the grocer, the postoffice, the drug store. * * To preserve that freedom is the first obligation of the American people and the American Press. It is our only hope of maintaining our other cherished freedoms.

TELEPHONE TALK

by W. L. Leavy, Manager

CANYON IS GROWING

We made a count of the telephones in Canyon last month and found a total of 1,969. That's a net increase of 124 telephones since the first of the year. At this rate, we should have 2,000 telephones by the first part of 1958. This is pretty amazing when you consider that it was only in 1948 that we reached 1,000 telephones.

I looked through some of the records of the recent telephones connected. A good percent of them are new college students and faculty members. A surprisingly large number are oil companies and exploration crews. Some are related to highway construction. Then, of course, the steady migration of Amarillo people looking for the neighborliness of a smaller town is an increasing factor.

A THOUGHT FOR THANKSGIVING

Remember that old, Thanksgiving song, ". . . over the river and through the woods, to Grandmother's house we go"?

A short, sleigh-ride was all it took to get to Grandmother's in those days. Today it seems as if everyone lives so far away — even when we travel by car.

This Thanksgiving, why not go "over the river and through the woods" the modern way — by telephone.

True, we won't be there to enjoy that wonderful food — the golden-brown stuffed turkey, the cranberry sauce, the homemade bread and rolls — but we can gladden the hearts of those dear to us with a phone call.

Long Distance is a wonderful, personal way to visit during the holidays. Low Station-to-Station rates make Long Distance economical, too. And remember, call by number — it's twice as fast.

COLOR FOR CHRISTMAS

Christmas may be a month away, but the way time flies it's not too early to begin making out your gift list.

To match this colorful season of the year, telephones in color are an ideal gift—particularly for relatives or close friends who have only one telephone in their home.

A handy additional phone in color will be a gift they'll remember all-year long as it makes their telephone service more convenient, more useful — and more colorful.

Why not call the telephone company today to learn how easy it is to give a telephone in color.

Call by number. It's twice as fast.

Russia Discussed At Sue Hite Club

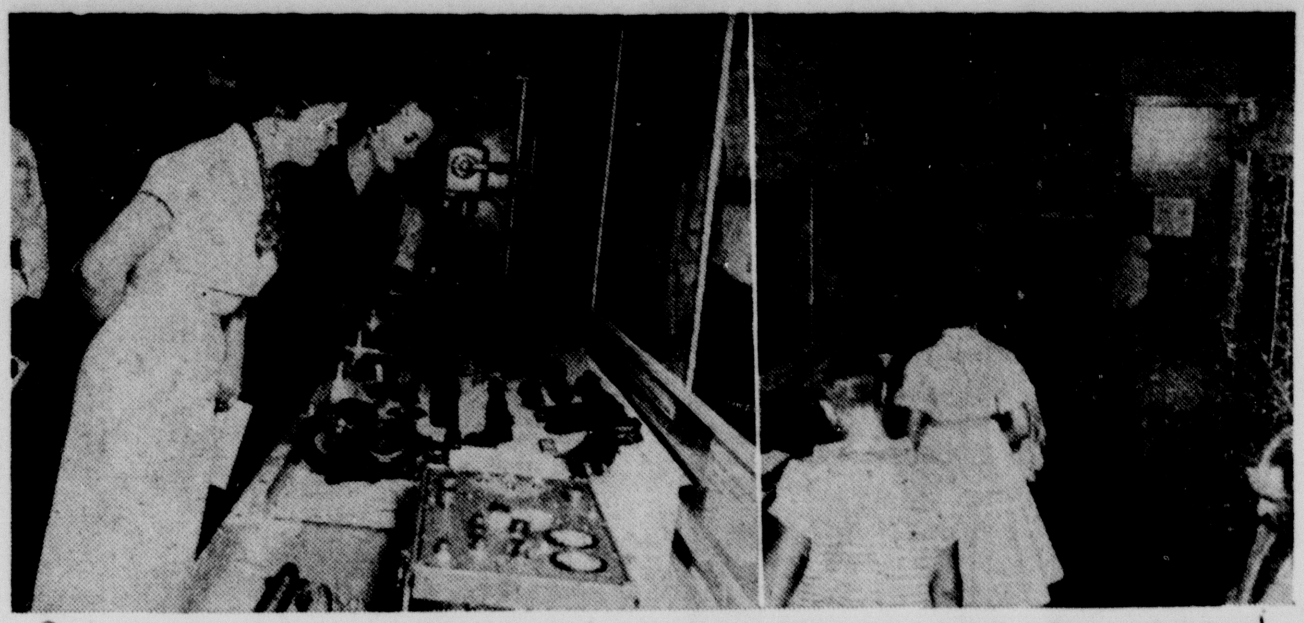
Mrs. Harriet Kaplan spoke on "Russia Up To Date" at the Sue Hite Club meeting Monday afternoon. She gave the history, education and a glimpse of the lives of leaders in Russia today.

Mrs. Kaplan reviewed the data about the population and land surface of the empire. Six million of the 211 million people are members of the Communist party.

Education is compulsory for all students from seven years old for 10 consecutive years. Their high school graduates compare with our college graduates. Further study is by appointment at specialized schools for those who show the aptitude for that particular branch. Teachers are among the higher paid groups in Russia. In the specialized schools there is one teacher to every 10 students.

Ermyle Cooper gave the invocation. Hostesses were Virginia Raillard and Elizabeth de Schweinitz. Twenty-seven members were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Fort of Jerome, Idaho, and Frank Carden of Berkeley, Calif., were visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hammons last week. Fort is a brother of Mrs. Hammons.



A modern police arsenal, including tear gas, riot guns, machine guns, pistols, rifles and handcuffs is on display in the Texas Law Enforcement Foundation Crimemobile. Wall pictures show Texas crime fighters in action protecting citizens of the state.

Childrens' Books Will Be on Exhibit In Elementary School for Two Weeks

An exhibit of 600 new and recent childrens books will be shown at the Canyon Elementary School library beginning Monday for inspection by parents and students.

The exhibit, which covers all grades from kindergarten through high school, will remain at the library through Dec. 13. It is sponsored by the Library Club.

Both fiction and non-fiction are represented. Some 32 subjects are represented, and a complete graded and annotated catalogue of the exhibit will be available to those who inspect the books.

The purpose of the exhibit is to show a representative collection of junior library books so teachers, librarians and parents may select books for students. No books will be sold nor orders solicited at the exhibit.
